Question: Help, I lost my download, how do I get it back?

Answer: The first step to finding your download(s) is doing a search within your computer. You can search your computer for your download by the title of the video purchased. If the download is not found within your computer, the following steps should be undertaken:

Log on to the website. Click on my account on the top right corner. In the middle of the page you will see a view download link. When you click on it, it will take you to a page with all your orders. On the far right, you will see a download button. Follow the prompts.

Question: I purchased my download/eBook/stream; but I haven't received my email?

Answer: You can log on to the website. Click on my account on the top right corner. In the middle of the page, you will see a view download link. When you click on it, it will take you to a page with all your downloadable orders. On the far right, you will see a download/view button. Follow the prompts.

Question: What if view download(s) does not show my videos/books?

Answer: If you have downloaded the videos/books that you purchased more than two times per product, the download feature will be disabled. Accordingly, you will need to re-purchase the videos to download them again.

Question: I downloaded an ePub book, but I can't open it?

Answer: You will need an ePub reader to open and to read the eBooks. Unless you download one of these readers, you will not be able to open your eBook. Several different versions of ePub readers exist, including the following that are available at no cost to you are:
